introduction

We are all constantly reminded that we don't get enough fruit or vegetables into our diets and for most of us, it's true. There is sufficient evidence that shows us that people can beat illness, fight cancers, lose weight, have better skin and hair, and are generally healthier if they eat a large variety of fruit and vegetables every day.

Our bodies need fresh foods. The human body doesn't deal well with the processed food that saturates our superstores these days, and more and more people are beginning to realize this. Unfortunately, though, with our busy lifestyles, it can be hard to fill our bodies with what they need.

Smoothies and juices offer a surprisingly varied way of getting our fill. An 8-ounce glass of smoothie or juice can be a way of getting 4 or even 5 of our daily fruit or vegetable portions into our system. A smoothie is portable and you can drink it on the go, meaning there are no excuses for missing breakfast again. Making smoothies and juices is a great way of using up fruit or vegetables that are beginning to go past their best. Some of these recipes can even be eaten as desserts.

With a selection of creamy milkshakes, indulgent naughty but nice drinks, and even some boozy blends, there is a blended drink here to suit everyone and every occasion.

But let's not forget that the most important benefit of anything we eat or drink is pleasure, and there is little better than drinking the nectar of sweet fragrant fruits. Have you ever drunk the juice of freshly pressed apples? Let me tell you that there is nothing sweeter.

It is everything that an apple is: crisp, dry, and sweet, but where apples can be hard to digest as a fruit, they glide down easily as a juice. Delicious!

equipment

blenders or smoothie makers

It is so important to get a good quality blender when making a smoothie. Try to find one that has an ice-crushing setting on it, as this will help you make frozen cocktails or thick and frosty drinks. Smoothie makers are a fun concept and do the job well, but are a bit of a gimmick and standard blenders often have more power. Hand blenders can work for the simpler fruit smoothies but will be no match for the icy ones.

centrifugal juice extractors

Juice extractors come in various qualities and styles, but the best you can get is a professional-standard centrifugal juicer. They make a finer juice and remove more pulp, but get the best out of the fruit or vegetables that you put through them. The cheaper compact juicers are great for people on a budget, but if you think you're going to be serious about juicing, I would suggest spending the money on a better quality one.

citrus juicer

Even though you can juice citrus fruit in a centrifugal juicer if you peel it, it is important to have a citrus juicer on hand for when you only need a little bit of citrus juice and don't need to use the larger equipment.

lidded glasses and portable cups

A lidded glass or portable cup can be stored in the fridge to keep any juice or smoothie you can't drink, or you could use it to carry a freshly made smoothie to work with you.

resealable plastic bags

Chop up your fruit the night before and pop it in the freezer in a resealable plastic bag. The next day put the frozen fruit straight into the blender with some yogurt or juice and blitz for an icy smooth drink.

measuring spoons

By using measuring spoons you are guaranteed to get the right amount of each ingredient into your drink, making sure you get the flavor perfectly balanced.

ice cream scoop

It is good to have an ice cream scoop on hand to make it easier to scoop ice cream or frozen yogurt for the frostier drinks.

ingredients

fresh fruit and vegetables

Fruits and vegetables that are available to you seasonally will taste best, but pretty much all fruits and vegetables can be juiced.

frozen fruit

Ready-frozen fruit is great if something you want is out of season. Either defrost them when making juices or use them frozen for making smoothies.

dried fruits

Dried fruits are great in smoothies and some milkshakes, but make sure they are not too dry. If they are, soak them in some water, juice, or alcohol for a few minutes before using.

canned fruit

As with frozen fruit, some canned fruits are great as an alternative to expensive fruits like lychees or out-of-season fruits like apricots, although the real thing will always make the best drinks.

yogurt

Greek yogurt is the mildest and creamiest of all the yogurts and I feel it makes the best smoothie, but flavor is a matter of taste, so use whichever yogurt you like best. Vegans can use non-dairy yogurt and enjoy any of the recipes in this book.

bottled juices

For those of you with little time, it's a good cheat to have a bottle of freshly squeezed orange or apple juice in the fridge.

ice cream and frozen yogurt

A simple vanilla ice cream or plain frozen yogurt is a great base for most milkshakes or frozen smoothies, but do play around with some of the amazing flavors you can get these days, such as ginger and white chocolate, to make some really exciting drinks. Soy ice cream and frozen yogurt are widely available, meaning that those who avoid dairy products can still enjoy a thick and creamy smoothie.

ice

A well-stocked ice compartment in your freezer is essential when making any drinks, especially the frozen cocktails and thick, icy shakes in this book.

sugar syrup

You will need this when making some of the alcoholic cocktails in the last chapter; to prepare it, simply stir 2 cups sugar into 2 cups water and place in a pan over a low heat. Stir until the sugar is dissolved, bring to a boil, and boil rapidly for 4 minutes. Let cool, then place in a sealed container in the refrigerator and use as needed.

alcohols

Whether it be rum, vodka, or tequila that's your drink of choice, you will find a fruity blend to go with it. Feel free to mix a couple of tablespoons of alcohol into any of the drinks in this book — you may discover your new favorite party drink.

simple smoothies

Smoothies are sweet, blended drinks made from fresh fruit. The possible permutations of fruit are endless and this chapter will inspire you to try dozens of them. Fruit doesn't have to be the only ingredient — some of these recipes include milk or yogurt to thicken the drink and make it more filling.

peach and raspberry smoothie

see variations

This classic combination relies on the sweetness of a ripe peach to work well — but be sure the peach is not overripe, or it will have an unpleasant taste.

1 peach, pitted and quartered

½ cup raspberries

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

¼ cup milk

Put all the ingredients in a blender. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

banana and strawberry smoothie

see variations

This is a seriously rich yet healthy smoothie that has become a classic because the sweet flavors of banana and strawberry are perfectly complementary.

1 banana, peeled and quartered

1 cup strawberries, hulled

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

¼ cup milk

Put all the ingredients in a blender. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

strawberry and apricot smoothie

see variations

This smoothie slips down with no problem at all. It is one of those classic combinations that cannot fail to please.

½ cup strawberries, hulled

2 apricots, halved and pitted

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

¼ cup milk

1 tsp. honey (optional)

Put all the ingredients in a blender. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

plum and passion fruit smoothie

see variations

This combination makes a deliciously creamy smoothie with a wonderful color.

3 red or purple plums, halved and pitted

Pulp of 2 passion fruit, sieved

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

¼ cup milk

Put all the ingredients in a blender. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

mango and passion fruit smoothie

see variations

The astringent flavor of passion fruit cuts through the rich sweetness of mango, lightening the effect of this aromatic smoothie.

1 medium mango, pitted, peeled, and cut into chunks

Pulp of 2 passion fruit

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

½ cup milk

Put all the ingredients in a blender. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass. Sprinkle a few passion fruit seeds over the top of the smoothie if desired and serve immediately.

Serves 1

blackberry and raspberry smoothie

see variations

The deep purple color of this smoothie is picture-perfect.

1 cup blackberries

½ cup raspberries

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

¼ cup milk

1 tsp. honey (optional)

Put all the ingredients in a blender. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

blueberry and strawberry smoothie

see variations

Take advantage of the fresh wild blueberries available in late summer if you can.

½ cup blueberries

1 cup strawberries, hulled

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

¼ cup milk

Put all the ingredients in a blender. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

papaya and mango smoothie

see variations

A thick and sustaining smoothie, but delicately fragrant with the scents of tropical fruits.

½ cup peeled papaya chunks

½ cup peeled mango chunks

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

¼ cup milk

Put all the ingredients in a blender. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

melon and kiwifruit smoothie

see variations

The vivid green of this drink is as refreshing as its vibrant sweetness.

½ cup honeydew melon chunks

2 kiwifruit, peeled

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

¼ cup milk

Put all the ingredients in a blender. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

blackberry and blackcurrant smoothie

see variations

The classic woodland flavors make this the perfect fall smoothie.

1 cup blackberries

½ cup blackcurrants

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

¼ cup milk

Put all the ingredients in a blender. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Place all the ingredients into a blender. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass or coffee mug and serve immediately.

Serves 1

country breakfast smoothie

see variations

Using stewed fruit is a novel approach to smoothie making, but this fruit adds a mellow flavor that you don't get from fresh fruits.

1 apple

1 pear

1 cup chopped rhubarb

¼ cup blackberries

Squeeze of lemon juice

1 tsp. honey

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

Peel, core, and chop the apple and pear. Place all of the fruits into a saucepan with 2 tablespoons water, the lemon juice, and the honey. Bring to a boil, then turn down to a simmer. Poach the fruit for 10 minutes or until it is tender. Remove from the heat and let it cool. Place the stewed fruit into a blender with the yogurt. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately. Drizzle a little extra honey over the smoothie if desired.

fragrant infusions

Adding aromatic ingredients to your smoothies and juices makes them even more seductive. Try cardamom or lemongrass for a taste of the Orient, or orange-flower water or mint for an authentic flavor of the Middle East. This chapter is full of fragrant inspiration.

mandarin, lemongrass, chili, and mint juice

see variations

Adding chili to fruit juice might sound bizarre — but in small quantities it provides a flavor hit without excessive heat.

4 mandarin oranges, peeled

1 lemongrass stalk, trimmed

½ a long red chili, seeded

5 fresh mint leaves

Put all the ingredients through a juice extractor. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

lychee, raspberry, and rose water fizz

2 cups peeled and pitted lychees

1 cup raspberries

1 tsp. rose water

½ cup soda water

Put the lychees and raspberries through a juice extractor. Stir in the rose water. Pour into a glass, top off with soda water, and serve immediately.

Serves 1

mango, coconut, and lime smoothie

see variations

The addition of lime brings a necessary edge to the creamy blend of coconut and mango.

1 mango, pitted and peeled

¼ cup coconut cream

Juice of 1 lime

1 cup ice cubes

Place all the ingredients into a blender and blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

pineapple, lemongrass, and cardamom crush

see variations

Cardamom is most familiar in Western kitchens as a spice used in curries and Asian-style dishes. Yet in south Asia and the Middle East, it is commonly used in sweet preparations too — and it works wonderfully as a warm aromatic in Asian-flavored juices like this one.

½ pineapple, peeled

1 stalk lemongrass, trimmed

Seeds from 2 cardamom pods

Juice of ½ lime

Put the pineapple and lemongrass through a juice extractor. Pour into a blender with the cardamom seeds and lime juice, and blend for 30 seconds. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

nectarine, clementine, and orange-flower water juice

see variations

The soothing flavor of orange-flower water completes a fabulous fruity trio.

2 nectarines, halved and pitted

2 clementines, peeled

½ tsp. orange-flower water

Put the nectarines and clementines through a juice extractor. Pour into a glass, mix in the orange-flower water, and serve immediately.

Serves 1

papaya, strawberry, and pistachio smoothie

see variations

The addition of pistachio nuts brings a taste of the East to these summer fruits.

1 small papaya, peeled and seeded

1 cup strawberries, hulled

¼ cup shelled unsalted pistachios

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

¼ cup milk

Place all the ingredients into a blender and blend until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

orange, date, and orange-flower water smoothie

see variations

Oranges and dates are combined in many traditional Moroccan recipes. Here is a smoothie with the same North African flavors.

Zest and juice of 2 oranges

5 dried dates, pitted

1 cup plain low-fat yogurt

½ tsp. orange-flower water

Place all the ingredients into a blender and blend until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

green tea, apple, and grape juice

see variations

Not only is green tea reputed to have considerable health benefits ; it also blends perfectly with fresh fruit to make unusual juices.

1 pinch maccha (green tea) powder

½ cup boiling water

1 apple

1 cup seedless green grapes

Mix the maccha powder with the boiling water and leave in the fridge to cool. Put the apple and grapes through a juice extractor. Mix the juice with the green tea and serve.

Serves 1

grapefruit, basil, and strawberry crush

see variations

Three fresh foods with very different flavors — acidic, herbal, and sweet — meld surprisingly well because of their shared aromatic quality.

2 grapefruit, peeled

Serves 1

st. clement's juice

see variations

“Oranges and lemons, say the bells of St. Clement’s,” goes the old nursery rhyme. Here’s a simple, classic combination with a citrusy tang.

1 orange, peeled

3 clementines, peeled

1 lemon, peeled

Put all the ingredients through a juice extractor. Pour into a glass and serve immediately. You can also use a citrus squeezer for this recipe.

Serves 1

peach melba smoothie

The classic Peach Melba, reconstructed: a simple peach smoothie with a raspberry coulis rippled through, giving each sweet mouthful a sour edge.

for the coulis

½ cup raspberries

Squeeze of lemon juice

1 tsp. honey

for the smoothie

2 peaches, peeled, pitted, and quartered

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

¼ cup milk

Place the coulis ingredients in the blender and blend until smooth. Pour out and set aside. If you do not want any seeds, pour the coulis through a mesh strainer. Don't worry about washing the blender, as it will give the peach smoothie a lovely pink color.

Place the smoothie ingredients into the blender and blend the mixture for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a large bowl, swirl in the raspberry coulis, then pour into a glass to serve.

Serves 1

peanut butter and jelly smoothie

see variations

This all-American sandwich favorite transfers beautifully to a sweet smoothie that kids will love as a special lunch treat.

1 banana, peeled and quartered

1 tbsp. strawberry jelly

boozy blends

For a more grown-up taste, try adding an alcoholic kick to your blended drinks. Sit back and enjoy the drinks in this chapter — perfect for parties or to help you relax in the evening.

watermelon martini

see variations

A light and refreshing drink, ideal to serve as an ice-breaker at the start of a party.

1 cup peeled watermelon chunks

6 ice cubes

2 tbsp. vodka

1 tbsp. sugar syrup

2 tsp. vermouth

2 fresh mint leaves

Slice of watermelon to serve

Put the watermelon through a juice extractor. Place into a cocktail shaker with the ice, vodka, sugar syrup, vermouth, and mint, and shake vigorously for 30 seconds. Pour through a strainer into a martini glass and serve with a slice of watermelon.

Serves 1

passion fruit margarita

see variations

Despite the small quantity of juice that can be obtained from a passion fruit, its astringent flavor and tropical perfume permeate this drink.

Juice of 6 passion fruit, sieved

6 ice cubes

2 tbsp. tequila

2 tsp. triple sec

1 tbsp. sugar syrup

Put the passion fruit juice, ice, tequila, triple sec, sugar syrup, and mint into a cocktail shaker and shake vigorously for 30 seconds. Pour through a strainer into a martini glass. Garnish with a passion fruit half if desired.

Serves 1

piña colada

see variations

Although this classic cocktail has been the subject of lighthearted songs, its intense Caribbean flavors deserve to be taken seriously.

1 cup peeled pineapple chunks

¼ cup coconut milk

¼ cup white rum

1 cup ice cubes

Soda water

Slice of pineapple to serve

Maraschino cherries to serve

Put the pineapple through a juice extractor. Pour into a blender along with the coconut milk, rum, and ice. Blend for 1 minute. Pour into a tall glass or goblet. Top off with a splash of soda water. Serve with a slice of pineapple and a couple of maraschino cherries.

Serves 1

amaretto and apricot boozy smoothie

see variations

The Italian combination of apricot and almond makes for a stylish adult-friendly smoothie — especially when the almond flavor comes from amaretto liqueur.

4 very ripe apricots, pitted

¼ cup Disaronno amaretto liqueur

¼ cup orange juice

½ cup plain low-fat yogurt

2 amaretto cookies, crumbled, to serve

Place the pitted apricots, amaretto liqueur, orange juice, and yogurt into a blender. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve with the crumbled cookies on top.

Serves 1

clementine and mango mojito

This exotic cocktail is much improved by the addition of the clean, crisp flavor of fresh mint.

¼ cup peeled mango chunks

1 peeled clementine, cut into eighths

1 tbsp. white rum

1 tsp. brown sugar

⅛ cup fresh mint leaves

Ice cubes

Soda water

Put the mango through a juice extractor and pass through. Place the clementine pieces into a tall glass with the brown sugar and mint and, with a muddler or spoon handle, crush together to release the flavors. Add the mango juice and white rum and mix thoroughly. Stir in some ice cubes until they reach the top of the glass. Top the glass off with soda water. Garnish with a fresh mint sprig if desired.

Serves 1

strawberry frozen daiquiri

see variations

This cool red liquid is sipped through ice crystals and looks stunningly vibrant.

1½ cups strawberries, hulled

Squeeze of lime

1 tbsp. sugar syrup

1 cup ice cubes

1 tbsp. white rum

Place all the ingredients into a blender and blend until slushy. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

fruity gin fizz

see variations

A light and fragrant drink made all the more glamorous with a dash of sparkling wine.

½ cup peeled and pitted lychees

1 cup seedless grapes

1 tbsp. elderflower cordial

1 tbsp. gin

Ice cubes

Sparkling wine or champagne to serve

Put the lychees and grapes through a juice extractor. Pour into a cocktail shaker along with the elderflower cordial and gin. Shake vigorously for 30 seconds. Pour into a glass over ice and top off with the sparkling wine or champagne.

Serves 1

papaya and orange rum slush

see variations

The soft, sweet flesh of a papaya is the perfect foil for the acidic hit of orange juice, and the ice cubes make this drink particularly good in the summer months.

1 papaya, peeled and seeded

¼ cup orange juice

Juice of 1 lime

1 tsp. brown sugar

1 tbsp. brown rum

1 cup ice cubes

Place all the ingredients into a blender. Blend for 1 minute or until slushy. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.

Serves 1

bloody mary

see variations

The great classic, slightly remodeled into a lighter drink. It will certainly refresh you, but it will not make you lose your appetite in the way a standard Bloody Mary does.

6 tomatoes

½ lemon, peeled

2 tbsp. vodka

Pinch salt

Pinch celery salt plus more to serve

Ground black pepper plus more to serve

1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce

Dash Tabasco sauce

Ice cubes to serve

1 stalk celery, trimmed

Put the tomatoes and lemon through a juice extractor. Place in a cocktail shaker with the vodka, salts, pepper, Worcestershire sauce, and Tabasco. Shake vigorously for 30 seconds. Pour into a tall glass over ice. Top with some more celery salt and pepper. Serve with a stalk of celery.

Serves 1

rum and raisin ice cream milkshake

see variations

This shake is rich and exotic, but not as heavy as plain ice cream.

¼ cup raisins

¼ cup dark rum

1 tbsp. brown sugar

1¼ cups vanilla ice cream

2 tbsp. milk

Mix the raisins with the rum and sugar, and let soak overnight. Place in a blender with the vanilla ice cream and milk. Blend for 1 minute or until smooth. Pour into a glass and serve immediately.
